

By Chuck Molgat
Printed in
Prairie Dog Magazine, Regina,
Saskatchewan

November 11, 2004

SOLO FONTAINE

---

KIM FONTAINE
SATURDAY 20
THE CLUB

---

Saskatoon singer/songwriter Kim Fontaine continues to spread the good word about her exceptional debut CD, Morning Pages, with a handful of upcoming live performances. Fontaine is wisely taking advantage of her first capital city gig since the disc came out to mount a special Regina CD release show within the cozy confines of the Exchange's The Club. Affording the event an apropos element of additional authenticity is the fact that Fontaine will be joined by Regina music man extraordinaire Dave Taylor, who not only performed on, but also produced the warm, dynamic and primarily acoustic album. (Wide Mouth Mason's Shaun Verreault had a hand in some of the disc's production, as well.)

Morning Pages represents Fontaine's coming out as a solo performer, having formerly served as a back-up player in a number of bands, most notably Toronto-based pop group Legal Limits, with which the Saskatoon native recorded and toured extensively as a bass player for several years.

Also on the Club bill is Regina's Frontier Sisters.